Gabriel lit a candle in honor of Jonathan.

Please accept my sincere condolences at this difficult time. The pain we experience when we lose someone close is unnatural. But it is comforting that our Heavenly father promises to get rid of what causes the pain, which is death (1 Corinthians 15:26). More than that, he promises a positive hope for the future in which we can see our dear loved ones again (John 5:28,29).

Bonnie Austin lit a candle in honor of Jonathan.

My heart is so heavy and broken for your sudden loss. We tend to think that we are not suppose to survive our children, but life doesn't always follow that rule. I know that in the coming months you will be riddled with Why?, What if?, etc. I am still from time to time asking the same questions, since my Bob's sudden death this past April. While I am still not at WB full time, please feel free to reach out to me if you need a shoulder to cry on, someone to vent with, or a just hug. My contact info is listed in the WB directory. My heart goes out to you, my tears flow for you, my prayers cover you and your family during this difficult time. Yours in Christ, Bonnie Austin XO

Maggie Roberts Costello lit a candle in honor of Jonathan.

I actually only met Jonathan two or three times back when my daughter Regina, (Roberts was her last name then), was working with Jon at Best Buy, 1999-2000 time frame. The three of us went to the movies together one time, (I don't recall what movie it was we saw), but I remember what a fun person Jonathan was and his absolutely easy going and friendly personality. I had a great time with the two of them then and thought about what a really special person Jon was whenever I thought of him or when my daughter would mention him over the years. That may sound unusual being that I only met him a few times but he made that kind of impression on me. My prayers are with the family and I truly hope you find joy in the many wonderful memories you have of Jon. God bless you :)
